Hi Mitch,

I had a question/comment about the windy ridge plans.

My first concern is that it has an extraordinary amount of paving for parking. It looks more like a huge parking plan than a housing plan. Is it possible to use pavers or something to avoid all the runoff? Or is it possible to do a first level of parking for the residence, rather than a separate lot?

Is there any storage planned for the apartments? Where do people keep their winter tires and bikes?
